BROKEN UP AND STOPPED BY CHIROPRACTIC.

My Chiropractic Adjustments Go Right at the Cause and Remove it.

A common "cold" is an inflammatory condition of the membrane of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, and sometimes the air spaces of the lungs. The membrane becomes weakened through lack of nerve nourishment caused by a pressure of a dislocated vertebra on the spinal nerves thus shutting off the necessary nerve force that should supply the part or parts affected. My Chiropractic Adjustments remove this pressure, the membrane again becomes normal and you are not susceptible to coughs or colds. Simple but effective. Don't let your cough or cold become chronic and eventually undermine your health. See me tomorrow.

FORD SCHEME SOUND? OPINIONS DIFFER

Henry Ford.

Many opinions as to the effect of the $10,000,000 distribution by Henry Ford, the Detroit auto manufacturer, to his employees have been expressed, and it is an interesting fact that there is a radical difference in views among different people. Manufacturers generally and socialists agree that the scheme is a bad one, though their reasons are not the same. Philanthropists and labor leaders have praise for Ford.

WEALTH OF HAIR

Parisian Sage Makes Hair Abundant and Gloriously Radiant—Quickly Removes Dandruff.

If Parisian Sage does not remove dandruff, stop itching hair, falling hair and scalp itch, and put life and lustre into the dull, faded hair of any man, woman or child, Smith Drug Co. will refund the purchase price.

Parisian Sage is one of the most pleasant, invigorating and refreshing hair preparations. No cheap perfume odor, no disagreeable concoction, but a daintily perfumed tonic that proves its goodness the first time it is used. Dandruff is one of the main causes of baldness, and thin, dull, faded and unattractive hair. Parisian Sage removes dandruff with one application, also freshens up the hair and beautifies it until it is soft, lustrous and abundant.

ENTHUSIASM MARKS OPENING CAMPAIGN

BUSINESS MEN SHOW DECIDED INTEREST IN THE HOSPITAL FUND CONTEST.

TEAMS BEING SELECTED

Real Campaign Opens With Rush on Monday Evening Next, Meanwhile All Plans Are Being Perfected.

"Watch the Fever," is the slogan that has been adopted by the Mercy Hospital campaign, who are now rapidly organizing preparatory to starting out the first of next week for $50,000 to pay off the debt of Janesville's only hospital so as to make possible a wider range of charity work, also to make it possible to care for pay patients at a cheaper rate.

"Watch the Fever" seems to be especially appropriate judging from the activities of the last twenty-four hours and in view of the program presented for next week's work.

Headquarters for this morning opened in the Y. M. C. A., where several meetings will be held during the campaign next week.

At City Hall Wednesday evening a meeting of people of affairs was held. The plan of campaign was outlined and a determination was evidenced by the citizens to push the work to success.

At the Myers Hotel private dining room today a meeting of men was held for the purpose of polishing up the organization and completing the getting together of the men's teams.

This afternoon, beginning at three o'clock, there is in session at the convent, a meeting of ladies for the purpose of completing the organization of the women's division of the campaign.

A meeting of the physicians of the city was held at the hospital Wednesday evening. The session was a brief one, the doctors adjourning their meeting to go to City Hall, there to participate in the meeting.

Considering the thorough presentation of the needs of the hospital, which are the needs of the city, and the complete outline of the plans to be followed during the campaign, with every opportunity presented for discussion of every phase of the entire situation, there remains no just complaint that all the people have not had full opportunity to inform themselves and to have their side heard.

Janesville seldom has more representative gatherings than that at City Hall last night, although the attendance was not as large as had been wished by those desiring the best of the details of the plans. W. S. Jeffris called the meeting to order and Attorney W. H. Dougherty, city solicitor, reviewed the history of the Mercy Hospital. Among other things he said:

"The old hospital was limited in its accommodations. The expense in this old building was in excess of the money received, consequently the sisters were found to be in debt. It was impossible to do the charity work, and many people wondered why. Now with our new building ready for operation, and with its large debt out of the way, the hospital should be ready to do a great deal of charity work, and to help the people as they should be helped."

Dr. T. W. Nuzum said: "The people of this city have a feeling of misgiving and doubt, which the sisters have the hospital to run by them. Why should there be such a feeling? The sisters devote their lives to that work and get nothing in return but their bread and clothes. We doctors are perfectly willing to give our services. You are not paying off this debt for our benefit, but you are paying it off for the good of the city and yourselves."

Several times during the meeting reference was made to the maintenance cost of Mercy Hospital, as now conducted, and to a municipal hospital. It was developed that a municipal hospital would pay between $7,000 and $15,000 each year for administration and for managerial fees and salaries whereas the sisters now do this work absolutely without compensation. More graduate nurses would be needed as the cost of the school for nurses would be very heavy if there were a municipal hospital, whereas the sisters minimize this cost, several of the sisters themselves long graduate nurses rendering their services entirely free. The money which the Sisters save is in the final analysis saved for the city, for the Sisters must of necessity come back to the people of this city every year if they suffer any deficit. Whatever they earn they expend in doing more charity work, for that is their life work, their religious vows being to do this character of work wherever and whenever privileged to do so.

BANDIT WILL HANG FOR ROBBING TRAIN

Ralph Fariss, alias John Bostick.

Ralph Fariss, alias John Bostick, has been sentenced at Los Angeles to be hanged within ninety days for the murder of Horace E. Montague, passenger agent, slain December 1, when Fariss held up a Southern Pacific express train at El Monte, Cal. Fariss was arraigned in a justice court, held to the superior court, arraigned there, tried and sentenced—all in two hours and eighteen minutes.

MUST MAKE REPORT OF TRUANCY CASES

County Superintendent Will Report Cases of Irregular School Attendance to Sheriff.

County Superintendent O. D. Antislid intends to secure an enforcement of the truancy laws in Rock county in the interest of better results among the scholars in the rural districts. The laws now require the superintendent to report once a month those children who do not attend school regularly to the sheriff as well as to the state industrial commission. Mr. Antislid has adopted the plan of calling or writing to the parents of children who are offenders in this respect, warning them of the consequences, before he actually hands the case to the sheriff. The majority of cases this is sufficient to remedy the situation.

Recently a woman who persisted in keeping her boy out of school was brought by the sheriff into Judge Mayfield's court, where she was given to understand that she must obey the law. On her promise to keep her son in school steadily Judge Mayfield adjourned the case until March. Action will be started against her at any time she fails to keep her promise to the court.

Children brought up to break the law in the rural districts are likely to break other laws later on in life, said Mr. Antislid in discussing the truancy question today, "and it is far better to teach children properly than to have to deal with them later as criminals."

BELIEVE STUDENT KILLED IN QUAKE

Relatives of Theodore Hoyer, Former Resident Here, Believe Young Man Perished in Japanese Disaster.

Friends and relatives of Theodore Hoyer, who was at one time employed at the Badger Ordnance plant in Janesville, fear that the young man perished when the Sakurishima volcano broke loose and buried the city of Kagoshima, Japan. No word has been received from the young man, although friends and relatives have made vain attempts to locate him. Hoyer's former home was in Watertown.

Hoyer was employed in this city about seven years ago and from there received Wisconsin university graduation in 1912. After leaving school he gained employment as instructor in a commercial school of Kagoshima. This city is one of the largest on the island of Kiusu and press reports estimate that fifteen thousand of the inhabitants perished in the disaster.

NEW WILSON HOTEL OPENS TO PATRONS

Edward H. Connell to Recome "Mine Host" of the Remodeled Riverside Hotel.

On Saturday next, the "New Wilson," named after President Woodrow Wilson, will open its doors to the public with Edward H. Connell as the "mine host" presiding behind the bar. Located at the corner of Pleasant and South River streets, the Hotel Wilson will make a big job for its share of patronage. It has been completely remodeled since the fire in October which did considerable damage to the hotel, and a most pleasing appearance. Twenty-two bedrooms have been fitted up in the second floor with new furniture, piped for running water and wired for electricity and completely renovated and newly decorated. The floors have been re-varnished in most of the rooms and new ones laid in some. There will be a barber shop in connection with the hotel and meals will be served a la carte. Mr. Connell will have a capable force of helpers including a day and night clerk.

The old wooden porch on the River street side has been removed and cement steps have been placed in its stead. The hotel has been re-painted and added greatly to the appearance of that part of town. Mr. Connell, host of acquaintances and friends will wish him every success in his new undertaking.

The hotel will be better remembered as the Riverside hotel, but its present appearance might lead one to believe that it was a new place entirely.

LINK AND PIN PLAN ORGANIZATION FOR RAILWAY MEN

New Fraternal Society for Railway Employees Is Being Organized Throughout the Country.

An organization to which any railway man, between the ages of 18 and 60 years can belong, is being formed throughout the country by a few railway men who see the needs of such a society. It is not a company, nor a labor organization, it is called the Brotherhood of All Railway Employees.

One of the organizers is Robert S. Burnett, for twenty-two years an employee of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway, who resides in Chicago. Mr. Burnett was formerly a Janesville resident, and is well known here.

It makes no difference whether the prospective member is working for the St. Paul or Northwestern, the Interurban Railway or Panhandle lines, he is eligible to membership. The proposition is being urged in this city among the employees of the roads, in an attempt to enlarge the membership.

This fraternal organization issues benefits for the injured and insurance can be obtained through this society. It is a railway insurance company, organized for the purpose of protecting all railway men.

RAILROAD COMMISSION PRAISES SERVICE ON TWO LOCAL DIVISIONS

In the report of the state railroad commission, it is shown that during the month of December, 1913, the ninety-six per cent of the passenger trains on the Prairie du Chien division and the ninety-three per cent on the Prairie du Chien arrived at the terminals on time. The report also shows that ninety-four per cent of passenger trains on the Mineral Point division moving on schedule time. This record during December, considered the busiest month of the entire year, heavy local traffic tending to delay trade, is worthy of praise.

MATRIMONIAL TANGLE THAT IS A TANGLE

Strange Happenings in Which Dan Cupid Played a Most Important Part.

A romance that extended through two divorce suits and one of the most sensational marriage tangles in southern Wisconsin, was culminated on Tuesday when Mrs. Corey-Clark and Shockey were united in marriage to John Niffenger of Orangeville, Ill., at Freeport. Mr. and Mrs. Niffenger were childhood sweethearts and after Mrs. Niffenger was married when fifteen years of age, to George Clark of Orangeville, he remained a widower until he heard of the trouble and divorce of the then Mrs. Shockey, whereupon he came to Janesville several weeks ago and the marriage at Freeport was the result.

Miss Della Corey, the bride, was first married to George Clark and a short time after the wedding she was granted a divorce at Danville. One year later Mrs. Corey-Clark married Dan Shockey, then a resident of Janesville. Shockey had wedded Mrs. Clark only three days after he had obtained a divorce from his wife and the marriage was declared illegal. Shockey deserted Mrs. Corey-Clark and was not heard from for several years. Shockey's first wife, whom he divorced to wed Mrs. Corey-Clark, re-married and is now Mrs. Neil Corey of Rockford, Ill.

The most serious angle of the marriage tangle was when Shockey, who had moved to Rockford, wedded Mrs. Fred Clifton, of Janesville, who obtained a divorce only a short time before her marriage to Shockey. Sentimental charges were brought against Shockey last August by his first wife, Mrs. Neil Corey and his second wife, Mrs. Corey-Shockey, and a Miss Inez Crammer, of Rockford, who claimed that Shockey had promised to marry her. The three women preferred charges against the Rockford blue beard, which led to his arrest. At that time he was living with the former Mrs. Fred Clifton and was confined to his home with typhoid fever. He was taken to Rockford hospital. Suit, it is stated, was brought against Shockey for breach of promise.

George Clark, the first benedict of Mrs. Nefenger, re-married and resides in Dodgeville. Dan Cupid has been working over time and was not apparently blind in his efforts with the arrows as all parties in the divorce tangle are married with the exception of Miss Inez Crammer.

For the benefit of the nervous cases that come to the doctor, it has been asserted by Scripture that it is just as necessary to know how emotional they are as it is to know how high the temperature is in a case of fever. Moreover, in many cases it is necessary to find out what experiences in the past or present life of the patient produce emotions. For this purpose the patient sits at ease with hands on the electrodes, which may be so concealed in the arms of his chair that he is unaware that the most intimate processes of his soul are being registered as various words are spoken or various topics of conversation are discussed. ### REPLACING DELUSIONS

If the popular imagination is to become heated to a point where it discards an attempt at abduction in every "dizzy feeling" or momentary illness suffered by a young woman in a public place, it will be unsafe for a man to offer the slightest civility to any person of the other sex whom he does not happen to know. To assist a woman into a car will subject him to suspicion, and to go to her aid if she faints in the street will render him liable to arrest as a white-slaver.

Anatole France says somewhere that one result of getting rid of old delusions is that they are often replaced with others of worse aspect. This present phase of popular credulity on the subject would deserve to be regarded merely as silly if it were not for the tendency of an exaggeration of the fancied dangers of the evil to confuse the public mind about its real dangers.

A. L. Bailey, a non-manufacturer of Adams, N. Y., has discovered a process of making a new kind of paint without the use of oil. He calls it Powderpaint. It comes in the form of a dry powder and all that is required is cold water, to make a paint. The paint is as good as any other paint, and it is as durable as any other paint. It is made of pure white paint and looks like white paint and costs about one-fourth as much. Write to Mr. A. L. Bailey, Manufacturer, 730 North St. Adams, N. Y. He will send you a free trial package, also color card and full information showing you how you can save a good many dollars. Write today.

One of the first professional ball games that Walter Johnson's father ever saw was when the Sox and Giants on their world's tour played at Tulsa, Okla. The elder Johnson knew that his son was pretty good as a pitcher, of course, and while not much of a ball fan, being a farmer and away from the ball parks, he was eager to see his son perform. Walter pitched against Matty in the game his father watched and after warming up a little he began to speed a few over. His pa, in the stands, blinked a few times and then removed his specs and rubbed them thoroughly. Then he watched very closely a little while longer. About this time the old man turned to those near by and wanted to know why Walter hadn't thrown the ball. He had gone through all the motions, but he certainly hadn't thrown a ball, by hen, and the old man knew he hadn't. He was assured by friends that Walter had actually thrown the ball, but he had thrown it so fast that it couldn't be seen. The elder Johnson felt just as satisfied with this as many a batter that faces Walter during the regular season, and from that point on the speed king cut down on the smoke so that his dad could enjoy the game.

If Willie Ritchie gets the $15,000 he demands for the Tommy Murphy fight, and he probably will, it will make an even $50,000 that he has gathered together since he has been in the scrapping forfesh. Ritchie has said that he doesn't fight because he loves it so, but because it's a good way to make money fast. And Willie is anxious to make money as fast as he can. After he has acquired as much change as he can from the fight game he's going to retire an undefeated champ. Those are his present plans. He wants to gather enough of the wherewithal to start into some playing business and live a very quiet and comfortable old age. Willie has a raft of brothers and sisters and he's going to do everything he can to give them all a chance. Let's hope Willie doubles his 50 thou. before he quits the game.

Baseball is a big hit with the natives of Japan and played quite a bit in the colleges there. But it's easy to see that the game will never be the pastime in the Orient that it is here. The most serious drawback to the youngsters to play on in Japan and how could baseball ever survive without youngsters on corner lots?

Tommy Burns' offer to "come back" and take a poke or two at Gunboat Smith will probably not result in a battle between the two, as was thought at first. To the credit of Tommy it must be said that he was taken seriously when he first vaunted his ability to trim the Gunner if given two months in which to train. It is seldom the remarks of a retired pug are given very respectful consideration in a case of this sort, but when Tommy first suggested that he be matched with Smith quite a few were there to egg him on. However, after thinking the thing over a bit, it seems that Tommy will more than likely drop the matter. Jim Buckley, Smith's manager, would have seen the thing through no doubt had there been the money in it, but of late Burns' attitude is not quite as enthusiastic as it had been. "A few years ago Tommy would undoubtedly have given the Gunner an awful run for his money, but at the present time he has been away from the ring too long to return with any great success. Tommy had better play the wise guy and refuse to do the comeback thing. Very few ever get anywhere with it.

FITZSIMMONS SEEKS TO RE-ENTER THE RING NOW

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Jan. 15.—Robert Fitzsimmons, former heavyweight champion boxer of the world, appeared before Justice Seabury in the supreme court today, asked through counsel to be permitted to reappear in the ring, a privilege denied him by the state athletic commission.

"When I return to the ring in this town," said Fitzsimmons, "there will be no more footpads or tangos inside the ropes. I think the public can see enough tangoing in the cabaret shows. What people want is some genuine boxing." Fitzsimmons was submitted to show that Fitzsimmons is still in good physical trim. Mike Donovan, instructor of boxing at the New York Athletic Club set forth that Fitzsimmons could meet the best in the ring without danger. Anthony J. Drexel of Philadelphia expressed the same opinion. Fitzsimmons is now 53 years old. Further argument will be heard on Friday.

PICKED TEAM GIVEN JOLT IN PRACTICE

Star Team, Who Will Perform at Madison, Trimmed by Lucky Five at Miller's Alley.

Worrying over what color shirts and what cute little ties they would wear at the state tournament, resulted in the defeat of the picked five in a practice game with the Lucky Five last night at Miller's alleys. Between debates on what color ties would be appropriate for the meet the first team tried to bowl and when the total score was marked up it was found that they were nineteen points short from winning. Quinn surprised himself and rolled off 229, winning high man. If the Janesville first team does not show better form than exhibited in last night's session, the local fans will equip them with black shirts and ties.

Tonight the Gazette and the Parker Pen clash in their postponed contest. Last night's score:

Quinn	229 161 147
Riechholz	147 157 146
Baumann	154 121 152

GERMANY REFUSES TO AID OLYMPIC GAMES

Will Not Appropriate Money to Defray Expenses of the Big Athletic Meet.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Berlin, Jan. 15.—The budget committee of the imperial parliament today rejected a proposition to appropriate $50,000 for the Olympic games to be held here in 1916.

The rejection of the appropriation was due largely to resentment among the socialists over the government's alleged systematic persecution of the working men's gymnastic society.

"Chick" Yingling, the southpaw pitcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will play with the Cincinnati Reds in 1914. He and Herbie Moran of the Dodgers were claimed by Manager Herzog last week. The price paid for the pair was $12,500—$8,500 for Yingling and $4,000 for Moran.

AMUSEMENTS

GREAT INTEREST IN THE COMING OF OPERA.

No event of the season has caused as much interest in theatrical circles here as the coming of the Sheehan English Opera company for a performance, including Bala's favorite opera, "The Bohemian Girl," Verdi's "Il Trovatore" and Pottow's "Martha." This triple bill is said to be unlike and superior to anything ever heard before in an opera performance.

Not only here, but in the surrounding cities as well, mail orders and inquiries are coming in and never before has as much interest been shown in a performance in this city. This is no doubt due to the fact that perhaps never before in America has such a popular opera program been given with such celebrated artists as comprise the all-star cast of the Sheehan English Opera company. In addition to the famous tenor himself, the cast includes such celebrities as Madame Antoinette Le Brum, Lydia Sturtevant, Harold J. Gels, etc.

The triple bill consists of "Il Trovatore" with its famous "Miserere" all of the well known numbers of "The Bohemian Girl" and the entire second act of "Martha" with the "Last Rose of Summer," its beautiful duets and quartets.

The Sheehan English Opera company will be heard at Myers Theatre on Wednesday, Jan. 21, and popular prices will prevail, in order to give all an opportunity to hear what will be without doubt the stellar attraction of the season.

NEW BILL AT APOLLO.

Aunt Dinah and her Dancing Picks, in "Fun on the Old Plantation," is the title of a feature act at the Apollo for the latter part of this week beginning tonight. There are four people in the sketch which is produced by Ed. Wilson & Co.

The Olympia Trio offers a blend of Harmony and Humor and with a third act, the entire show promises big. The four reel feature picture Zigomar, III, made a decided hit on Tuesday and Wednesday. The management has arranged for some big features during this year which will surpass last year. This pretty playhouse has had a successful first year's business and the management looks forward to an improvement each year for many seasons.

CAIRO

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

CAIRO is the Chicago of Egypt. Although a very young town, having been founded only about 1,100 years ago, it has grown with wonderful speed and now has over 600,000 people, speaking somewhat less than that number of languages and dialects.

This shows what modern hustle and enterprise will do. There are cities in Egypt which are 4,000 years older than Cairo. But their commercial clubs loafed on the job. They dooped at reform and the health department and now they are nothing but elaborate holes in the ground. When workmen dig down into the earth in the outskirts of Cairo, to insert the foundation for a new mosque, they often come upon the remains of cities which were great tourists centers once, but had been forgotten by the oldest inhabitants before the reverse gear was thrown in on the calendar 1914 years ago.

Cairo sits on the hills and in the valley by the Nile and consists of two parts: old and new Cairo. In the new section, street cars and moving pictures abound, while modern hotels take the tourist, who comes to absorb Egypt's celebrated winter climate, and separate him from the efforts of the Arabs, it is almost as noisy as Chicago.

The STENO TYPE

The Fastest Writing Machine in the World

a way to write faster and more accurate shorthand.

Nine years ago he conceived the idea of combining simplified spelling with the typewriter principle—but in a machine that would write a word at a stroke.

Now 11,000 Stenotypists

Eighteen months ago this machine was perfected.

Today there are 11,000 successful Stenotypists in business. And thousands of students in 315 Leading Business Colleges are learning to write "Shorthand by Machine."

Makes You Fast and Accurate

The Stenotype, having machine-accuracy and machine-speed, enables you to write faster and more accurate shorthand. It makes possible more and better mail per day. That's what business men want. And they are willing to pay for it.

So Stenotypists at the start are getting more money than is usually paid to beginners.

And your advancement in business comes faster through Stenotypy because of this greater accuracy and this greater speed—this higher efficiency.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Cloudy with increasing cloudiness. Moderate temperature two days longer.

INTERFERENCE.

While Governor Ferris of Michigan has not yet published his report on conditions in the copper country, he said at the close of his investigation that the strike would have settled itself long ago but for outside interference.

The fact has long been known that the Western Federation of Miners is responsible for the first disturbance. Agitators were sent into the district to organize miners which should be confederated with the Western Federation.

The mine owners did not object to union organization; but they did object to Western domination, as they had a perfect right to do. The Western Federation is associated with a long record of crime, and Hayward, the notorious agitator, is still at large as an organizer for the Industrial Workers of the World, the latest and the worst labor organization in existence.

A traveling man, who visited the copper country last week, said that all kinds of business is paralyzed. That thousands of men were anxious to go back to work, who would never have thrown up their jobs but for intimidation. The lowest wages for common labor was two dollars a day, with a liberal wage scale for expert workmen.

Congress is just now considering an investigation, but it will amount to nothing unless congressional sympathy recognizes justice. There is no grievance and no cause for dissatisfaction among a large majority of the workmen, who are composed of half a dozen nationalities. Many of them did not know what the strike was about until informed by an interpreter.

The following dispatch was sent to Congressman Townsend yesterday. It explains the situation, and should have some influence on congressional action.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 12.—To Charles E. Townsend, Washington, D. C.—Dear Sir: In discussion of Asbury resolution kindly note that the federation has waived all demands for better wage and improved labor conditions, and that the strike is now based solely upon the recognition of the union. Ten thousand miners now at work protest against such recognition while but 3,000 men are now on strike and supporting the claims of the federation.

Governor Ferris prior to his departure from the copper country after a thorough investigation, announced his belief that difficulties could be adjusted between the operations and their men if outside interference were withdrawn. This has from the beginning been the opinion of every one familiar with local conditions. The men have an eight hour day, increase of wages, and arbitration courts since Dec. 1, and those now at work are entirely contented.

A congressional investigation at this time can only serve to confirm in the minds of the strikers the delusion carefully fostered by agitators that the government intends to take over the mines and place them in charge of the Western Federation of Miners.

Copper Country Commercial Club, G. L. Price, Corresponding Secretary.

THE RED CROSS SOCIETY.
It is gratifying to know that the American Red Cross society, established by Clara Barton, and so successfully developed by her fortune, and under her wise supervision, is still doing humane work by people who are striving to perpetuate the memory of the unselfish founder, as will be seen by the following:

"As a great humane and patriotic institution, devoted to the mitigation of suffering for the sake of humanity, and the upbuilding of a strong and vigorous people, the American Red Cross, through its nursing service, is carrying into the homes of the people such simple instruction in hygiene and home care of the sick as will aid in the improvement of living conditions and the prevention of illness, and make it possible for women to render intelligently such care to the sick in their own homes as may safely be entrusted to them.

"To encourage the employment of visiting nurses, not only in small cities and towns, but in the vast stretches of country where the services of a physician are difficult to obtain and where trained nurses are now unknown, a town and country nursing service has recently been established by the Red Cross. It is hoped through co-operation with local communities that the dwellers in all sections of the country, even the most isolated, may eventually be assured proper nursing care in case of serious illness.

"To Miss Jane A. Delano, the chairman of the national committee on nursing service, through whose instrumentalities the nursing work of the Red Cross has been brought to its present high plane, the Red Cross gold medal of merit has been awarded by the president.

"Miss Mabel T. Boardman, the active head of the Red Cross, in presenting Miss Delano to President Woodrow Wilson, said:

"In token of its great appreciation of her services to the American Red Cross, the general board has awarded to Miss Jane A. Delano the Red Cross gold medal of merit. It is due to Miss Delano's devoted and efficient labors that a splendid corps of over four thousand of the best trained nurses in this country have been enrolled in the Red Cross for active service in time of war or disaster. Not only has this large corps been enrolled, but by means of 110 local committees a system has been established that enables the Red Cross to mobilize within a few hours' time anywhere in this country the number of nurses required for active service. It is to Miss Delano and the patriotic interest she has aroused in our American nurses that the Red Cross owes the most excellent organization. The people of the United States may well be grateful for the unremunerated and efficient work of this devoted woman."

THE SOCIAL CENTER.

Among the new laws which contribute to the popularity of Wisconsin as the most progressive state in the union, is the "Social Center," evolved in the brain of the late university and, on the face of it, having for its mission the social betterment of the rural population.

The meeting place was to be the country school house where friends and neighbors could assemble and discuss various topics of mutual interest. The school house at Fulton was dedicated to this kind of work, not long ago, and emissaries from some commission at the state capital were the organizers of a Social Center club.

Two or three nights later Mr. Hungen of the Tax Commission came down to discuss taxation, and convince the people; if possible, that taxes were unusually low this year, which of course was an easy thing to do.

These social centers are to be established all over the state. The man who thought out the scheme was a long headed patriot, for he recognized their usefulness in a campaign, and how easy it would be to convert them to political caucuses.

Of all the fool reform laws which now curse the country the "Shoe Laws," now in form in twenty five states, caps the climax. This law provides that all shoes not made entirely of leather must be marked "adulterated." The annual convention of the National Shoe Retailers Association, at their meeting in New York, decided that if the law was enforced, that shoes would advance to ten dollars per pair, and that two million more hides would be consumed in manufacturing. That the sort of law that does nobody any good, and results in an endless amount of harm.

The social center should have been named political center, for that was occasion demanded. The scheme bids fair to become a part of the ball bearing machine, now forming the state.

A Missouri state senator is agry because he is being criticized for having sold his vote for $200. Possibly he would feel better about it if the price had been higher.

Politically considered, it begins to look as though congress blundered by not providing regional blanks enough for all the cities in the United States.

If Orville Wright succeeds in making the aeroplane "fool-proof," will not he or somebody else perform the same service for the automobile?

Perhaps, after all, Boss Murphy of Tammany Hall is a real statesman. He has said scarcely a word since the election last fall.

England's enthusiasm over Dr. Cook must be due to the fact that he is so different from its own polar explorers.

Don't delay it up against President Wilson that Judge Parker has praised him warmly. Mr. Wilson couldn't help it.

In spite of the Mexican situation, the tariff and the currency law, people are still inventing new steps for the tango.

Anyway, Brazil may prove to be a safer place than Mexico for a foreign minister who doesn't like the United States.

Complete segregation of the feeble-minded will be a great relief.

Heart to Heart Talks

By CHARLES N. LURIE

FOR THE PENSION SEEKERS.

Ho, ye faint of heart and fearful of the future, listen to the tale of the Rev. Michael C. Pyplatz of Chicago!

This clergyman is past the meridian of life. He served a congregation—no doubt faithfully and well—for thirty years. Then he was retired, and for a few months he went into retirement. For his support he received a pension of $50 a month from a benevolent society, which pensions aged clergymen of his denomination.

He has given up the pension voluntarily.

He says: "I am able to work for my living. It is not just to the benevolent society to take its money while I am able to work."

He put up a newspaper stand at the corner of two of Chicago's streets in the effort to earn his living by the selling of papers.

"Pyplatz" is not a distinctively American name, and the church of which the clergyman-newsman was pastor is not composed of the most part of Americans of native birth or family.

But the Rev. Mr. Pyplatz has the true American spirit.

He will not eat the bread of dependence nor wear the garments of "charity." While he retains his mental and physical powers he will work for his livelihood.

To pension the able and feeble is a good thing, especially when they have served long and well. But is there not too much reaching for pensions nowadays? Are we not seeking too much to discount the future by leaving to others the provision for our age?

The bread which we provide for ourselves is far sweeter than that which is offered by others. It has not the unearned savor which is so distasteful to persons of spirit.

Some will ask perhaps: "And not the clergyman earned his pension? Was he not entitled to it? Could he not accept it without incurring any reproach?"

True, but in his lay the choice. He left himself able to work. He held, and rightly, that while he was able to perform a useful service to the world he was not justified in sitting back idle with folded hands.

"Better to wear out than to rust out," says the old proverb.

The Rev. Mr. Pyplatz preached many sermons in his thirty years of service in the pulpit. No doubt they were good sermons.

But none of them was stronger than his recent action.

The Village of Wiseacre.

Old Rod Binks is quite a feller, 'bout the wisest in our town, and his fund of information has brought him into renown. For you can't bring up no subject but he's there with facts galore. And he sits behind the wood stove every day down to the store.

There's no foreign complication that he can't explain complete. He is there with facts and figures and he never gets cold feet. When they put a question to him fer he gives the answer quick, and he makes that gang of low-brows at the grocery look darn sick.

But there's one who's got his number, one who isn't fooled a bit, and she calls him good and proper and there ain't no doubt of it.

Old Rod Binks' wife has to hustle round and tend to every chore, while old Rod is spoutin' wisdom at the village grocery store.

From the Hickeyville Clarion.

An indignation meeting was held last Thursday for the purpose of protesting against the greatest nuisance, the same being the Hickeyville Silver Cornet band, which turns night into a howling pandemonium of discordant noises about six times a week. Judge Purdy will be asked to call a grand jury and indict the band.

The band went on the rocks about two years ago, after an outraged and angry populace had kicked a hole in the brass drum and let all the wind out it and had poured all the cornets full of hot lead and soldered up all the holes in the flutes and clarionets, but it was recently reorganized by a cornet player who came here from West Hickeyville to work in the feed mill and it has been practicing very religiously in the hall over the engine house every night since, tryin' to make up for lost time. There is so much music that the hall is too small and some of the winders have been busted out with the pressure from the inside and folks are looking for the roof to come off almost any fine evening.

In This Paper Forty Years Hence.

The city council has just passed an ordinance imposing a fine and imprisonment upon any alrship operator or passenger who drops a monkey wrench, hammer or other tool out of an alrship anywhere within the city limits. The council has also set the maximum speed of 182 miles an hour. An old-fashioned man was seen going about in an automobile in this city the other day. This man says he can remember even as far back as the time when people rode bicycles every day.

The Canadian alrship Boozeltanian was two hours late in arriving at New York from Liverpool yesterday. She should have made the trip in twelve hours, but was held back by a heavy fog and a slight accident to the machinery.

I've figured it for many weeks.
I'm figuring it still—
How am I going to buy all that
With one five-dollar bill?

According to Uncle Abner.
It is almost needless to say that all of the objections to the new fangled dances come from the old timers who can't git around as lively as they used to.

Hank Tumms has painted his house with asbestos paint. Now, if the house burns down, the paint will still stand and he kin build a new house up inside of it.

Abijah Wicks, proprietor of the Huttel Hoppertown, has been savin' a lot of money during the warm spell by feeding his guests on dandelion greens.

The difference between a la carte and table d'ote is about 50 cents. What has become of the old fashioned gink who used to take his false teeth out and polish 'em with a silk handkerchief?

A good deal of the misery of this world is caused by tryin' to wear a 15 collar on a 13 shirt. The last time that Elmer Spink did it his Adam's apple which always works up and down when he talks, got ketched and he nearly choked to death.

In Wrong.

Jackson—Bunker has got himself into a nice fix.
Johnson—How?

Jackson—He wrote an article, on "The Ideal Wife" for a ladies' paper last month.

Johnson—Well, what's that to do with his present fix?

Friendship is a vase which, when it is flawed by heat, or violence, or accident, may as well be broken at once. It can never be trusted after. The more graceful and ornamental it was, the more clearly do we discern the hopelessness of restoring it to its former state. Coarse stones, if they be fractured, may be cemented again; precious stones, never.—Lander.

SCIENTIFIC NOTES.

In order to overcome the traffic congestion in the city, the suggestion has been made to do a great deal of the heavy carting at night. For instance, coal carts are a great source of trouble blocking the highways constantly during the day in the lower part of the city where the streets are narrow and the traffic heavy, and it is contended that all of this hauling might be done at night and the capacity of the teams greatly increased thereby. The hauling in the wholesale districts might be done at the same time, and this would certainly greatly relieve the congestion during the daylight hours.

According to the Electrician, an organized attempt to measure, by means of instruments standardized by the Smoke Abatement Committee, the extent of the soot and dust existing in the atmosphere of several large towns and cities in the United Kingdom has been undertaken. The instrument to be used follows the principle of the rain gauge, a given area being exposed to catch all the falling matter that either falls by gravity or is borne down by rain. This is collected in a glass receiver placed beneath a dust falling from the collecting surface. The receiver may be removed once a month and replaced by a fresh one.

Many of the railroad companies are adopting a new signaling system, which is a great improvement on the older systems and which should be the means of preventing many accidents. As soon as the train is within a mile of the crossing a bell is rung which may be heard for a distance of 500 yards, and at the same time a danger signal is flashed. There is little occasion for a driver or pedestrian overlooking both of these signals. After the train has passed a white light takes the place of the red one. Should any of the mechanism be put out of operation for any purpose whatever, the red signal is displayed automatically and remains in view until the damage has been repaired.

An instrument known as the otophone was devised a short time ago for the purpose of enabling blind persons to locate a sound or other source of light, and this apparatus has since been improved to the extent that it is now possible for a blind person to read type. So far, the smallest type that may be successfully read is an inch high and it must be photographed white, as a transparency. The letters give various characteristic sounds. As described in the Electrician, "the two vertical strokes of H or M give a chaos of notes, the middle stroke of N gives a falling gamut, the three horizontal strokes of E give a chord and the curved lines of O and S give characteristic flourishes of sound. The alphabet of capitals can be learned in about an hour, and once learned, the process of reading may be as rapid as that of reading by sight." This instrument makes use of the varying resistances of selenium cells when exposed to light, and makes known the presence of light by means of a telephone.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., 75th meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isotherms (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isohyets (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 50°, and 100°. Symbols: ☉ clear; ☁ partly cloudy; ☂ cloudy; ☔ rain; ☉ snow; ☉ report missing. Arrows by the wind. First figures, lowest temperature past 12 hours; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

The barometer is low in Canada and the northern states, and high in the Gulf of Mexico and over the Pacific, off southern California. The temperature has risen throughout the country and is abnormally high in the Rocky Mountain region. Rain has fallen on the Pacific slope and light snow in the lake region.

Why Parsons Might Not Hunt.
An English clergyman may shoot birds without outraging popular sentiment, why not, then, ride after a fox? To find the answer we must probably go back to those old days when hard riding meant hard drinking, and when spiritual life was at a low ebb. The "hunting parson" came to be a type of cleric who habitually neglected his duties. It is a happy circumstance that in these days foxhunting need no longer be a reproach because the greater reproach has been removed. A parson who does his work faithfully and well need not be grudging a few hours' gallop in his leisure moments. Indeed, he can do it all the better for the exercise, and win respect for his spiritual teaching by gaining a reputation for manliness and pluck.

FROM TELEGRAPHER TO CONGRESSMAN

Emmett Wilson, who is serving his first term in congress from Florida's third district, is one of the youngest men in the lower house and yet he started out only a few years ago as a telegraph operator. He was born in Belize, British Honduras, in 1882, during the temporary residence of his parents there. Educated in the public schools of Florida, he became a telegraph operator. At twenty-one he had been graduated from a Florida college as a lawyer and was admitted to the bar. From then until he was elected to congress last November he held a number of positions in the legal departments of both the state and federal governments.

DISCOVERS RUINS OF CITY IN ANDES

Prof. Hiram Bingham.
Professor Hiram Bingham of Yale, director of an exploring expedition under the auspices of the National Geographic society and Yale university, in a report just made public, tells of the discovery by his party of the ruins of the walled city of Machu Picchu, in the Peruvian Andes. The city, he says, is perched upon a mountain top in a most inaccessible corner of the Urubamba river country and is flanked on all sides by precipitous slopes. The party was led to the place by an Indian. The ruins are said to be the most important yet discovered in South America.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

SOME POINTS OF VIEW.

SOME weeks ago I gave over my column to a reader friend who thought that too much emphasis had been laid on the happiness of married life and too little on the drawbacks which exist, especially when the man is poor. The following answer also deserves my space:

"Just a word for the forlorn wives of poor men. The impulse seized me to leave my pie and cookie baking long enough to remind the commonplace bachelor maid that the days do come and the years draw nigh when she is lonely, old and alone, without children or children's children."

"There's where the faithful, toil-worn wife of an ordinary man gets her meat. And she can give up churning lecture courses and art exhibitions and woman's clubs, and be a comfortable old lady without any sense of shame and loss. She that loses her life shall find it."

"I was a college woman, my husband is a college-bred, professional man. The fruits are two children of brilliant mind, and we are proud and happy."

(In haste for I fear the cranberries are sticking.)

ONE WHO FOUND IT WORTH WHILE.

"Did she really like my Christmas gift or was she just pretending to be pleased?" is a query that often lurks in the mind long after the holiday season is passed. It is so hard to tell. Some people can seem delighted when they are in reality most disappointed, and others lack the ability to make their thanks sound convincing no matter how pleased they really are.

All this is a prelude to a suggestion. If you want to do a kind thing, tell some member of your circle how much some other member seemed to enjoy his gift. Assurances like this from a third person are always much more convincing. I once gave a kodak for which I paid more than I really could afford, to a nephew of mine. It did not seem to me at the time that he was particularly pleased. But the next time I met his sister she seized the opportunity to say, "I never saw anyone enjoy anything as much as Carl enjoys that camera." After that I felt well repaid for whatever sacrifice it had involved.

It's just a little thing to remember to do, but it may give a lot of happiness.

The following acrostic on optimism and pessimism which one of my reader friends has written and sent me is altogether too good not to share with my other reader friends:

THE CONTRAST.

Acrostic. Optimism.

Hope for the best for evermore.

Overhead the sunlight gleams;

Pass not the time in weeping sore,

Ever watch the golden gleams

Thrown from Heaven's wide open door.

Hope the best, be energetic,

Ever seek the brighter view.

Brightest dreams may be prophetic,

Every promise may come true.

Stand not in the purple shadows!

Think—the best may come to you.

Pessimism.

Fear the worse, with moan and cry;

Every spring is going dry!

All our crops must surely fail;

Rain will turn to pelting hail!

Thunder sure will kill the chicks.

Idly up we're in a fix!

Ere we can turn around once more

We'll be turned outside the door!

Oh, whatever shall we do?

Rent will be tomorrow due!

Surely we shall all be ill;

Then who'll pay the doctor's bill?

THE KITCHEN GABINET.

Brooms soaked in hot salt water wear better and do not break.

Black and white cotton goods should first be soaked in a weak solution of salt water to prevent the black and white from running.

Lemon and salt remove stains from the fingers. Do not use soap afterward.

Every woman who is mistress of a home should know all not a little about plumbing. It is about as hazy in most housekeepers' minds as the North Pole. Here are a few reminders:

Lead pipe costs more than iron, but it lasts longer.

It should be a criminal offense for an unskilled man to masquerade as a plumber.

Poor plumbers' work will cause many a doctor's bill.

Defective plumbing means typhoid fever, diphtheria, pneumonia, scarlet fever and plumbing repairs.

Demand scientific plumbing and study to select plumbing fixtures intelligently.

Require every sink in the kitchen or pantry where dish washing is done raised to thirty-four or thirty-six inches in height. Laundry tubs should also be raised so that neither reaching up nor bending is necessary.

Scientific plumbing means health, progress and development. Defective plumbing and low placed sinks mean disease, doctors' bills, funerals, besides plumbing which is nearly always out of order.

Low sinks, low laundry tubs and washboards, low tables and low stoves have done more to cause disease in women than all the other conditions combined.

Housekeepers, know plumbing, for it spells health!

Meat may be kept fresh for several days by immersing it in scalding milk or buttermilk and standing in a cool place. Rinse well and wipe dry before using.

The pile of velvet may be raised to look like new by covering it with a wet cloth and holding the cloth very firmly over it. The vapor rising will raise the pile of velvet with the assistance of a light whiskbroom.

Heart and Home Problems.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are two girls, thirteen and fourteen. We both go to church Sunday nights and come home with us. Our mothers know about it, but our fathers do not. Ought we to tell them?

(2) Does it injure us to ride a wheel? We both want one very much.

(3) Some time ago you printed a letter about a recipe. Will you please print it again?

(4) What time should we go to bed?—What time should we get up?

(5) What will make the hair grow? Mine is very thin and short.

(6) If your mothers approve of the boys coming home with you, and if you know yourselves that you are acting modestly, it is not necessary to tell your fathers. Still, I always like to know that girls are chummy with their fathers and not afraid to tell them everything. A father knows so much more about men than even the best of mothers do, and father's advice about a man or boy is always worth having.

(7) I do not think a wheel would injure you if you used it moderately and didn't try to ride very fast or to go long distances.

(8) Butter Scotch—Two cups brown sugar, one-half cup water, butters, six or eight eggs, two tablespoons vinegar, boil until it hardens when dropped into cold water. Then pour on buttered plate. When cool enough,

SOAP ON YOUR HAIR CAUSES DANDRUFF; SCALP GETS DRY, THEN HAIR FALLS OUT

Girls! Boys! Get a 25 cent bottle and try a "Dandarine Hair Cleaner"—Save your hair!

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Dandarine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap sparingly as possible and instead have a "Dandarine Hair Cleaner." Just moisten a cloth with Dandarine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil in a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be very fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Dandarine dissolves every particle of dandruff, stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Dandarine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. It's exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of "Dandarine Hair Cleaner" from any drug store or toilet counter, and try it.

THE TABLE.

A Simple Omelet—Beat the yolks and whites of six eggs separately and stir three tablespoons of milk into the yolks. Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a hot frying-pan. Stir the yolks and whites very lightly together, pepper and salt them, and turn the frothed mass into the frying-pan. Keep the omelet from sticking to the bottom and sides of the pan by frequently slipping a knife or cake-turner around the sides and under the bottom of the egg mixture. When the omelet is set, slip it off upon a hot platter, and as you do so, fold it over quickly and lightly. Serve at once.

Fried Toast—Cut rather thick slices of stale bread round with a cake cutter, spread upon a platter and pour over them a mixture of one cup of milk with an egg beaten into it, then salted slightly. Turn the slices until saturated, drain carefully, and fry as you would doughnuts in deep hot fat, turning when half done. Lay scrambled or poached eggs or a nice mince upon them for breakfast.

Johnny Cakes—Sift with two-thirds of a cup of flour, one tablespoonful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of baking-powder and one teaspoonful of salt. Pour two cups of boiling milk over two cups of cornmeal when cold add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, the yolks of two eggs well beaten and the sifted flour. Beat the mixture and just before putting in the oven add the whites of two eggs whipped light and dry. Bake in a shallow pan and serve hot.

Ginger Sandwiches.—Cut thin slices of plain gingerbread. Spread with a soft cream cheese. Put between the slices a thin cake of preserved ginger.

Potato Cake—Two cupfuls of white sugar, one cupful of butter, four eggs, one-half cupful of milk, one cupful of potatoes, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and cloves, one-half cup of chocolate, two cups of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one cup of almonds. Blanch and chop the almonds; grate cold boiled potatoes; beat eggs separately, adding the whites last. Bake in a shallow pan in a moderate oven, and cover with caramel frosting.

Parkin—Mix together three pounds of oatmeal, a pound and one-half of molasses, a half-pound of butter creamed with a half pound of sugar, a dash of ginger and a pinch of baking soda dissolved in a little boiling water. Mix thoroughly and bake in flat pans.

Molasses Cookies—Warm a cupful of molasses slightly and beat to a cream with half a cupful of softened butter. Add the juice of half a lemon, one tablespoonful of ginger and half a teaspoonful of cinnamon. Now stir in two cupfuls of flour sifted three times with an even teaspoonful of baking soda until you have a soft dough. Roll out and cut into shapes. Bake in a good oven.

Broiled Oysters—One pint of sea water, one-fourth cup of melted butter, two-thirds cup of seasoned cracker crumbs. Clean the oysters and dry between towels. Light with plated fork by the tough muscle and dip in the butter, then season with salt and pepper, then in a buttered wire broiler and broil over a clear fire until juices flow, turning while broiling. Serve with melted butter, the yolks of

Every Day Talks for Every Day People

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

The night schools that are springing into existence in towns laying claim to population enough to class the place as a city, are only one of the many proofs that are flanking us on every side that a man's or woman's chances for advancement stop only when they as an individual say so. As long as a person has the desire to forge ahead the chance to fit himself is wisely given, and the individual who has energy enough of the right sort to back his desire with earnest effort is usually rewarded with success. And yet, is every one that should be availing themselves of the opportunities that lie near at hand for advancement?

When you meet a young man who is working his way through school involuntarily you mentally tip your hat to him; same of the student happens to be a girl. Why? Because you're positively certain that any one with determination and grit enough to go after an education in so vigorous a manner will have the grit necessary to make and keep a place for them; selves well up the line of the world's workers.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Never use sandsoap on paint. Wipe off with a cloth dipped in thick swabs of white soap, and rinse with a clean, soft cloth wrung from hot water.

To dredge fruits such as raisins and currants, for cake, put them into a flour sifter with a little flour and shake. They will be dredged perfectly and lots of time saved.

Mica in stoves may be cleaned by washing in hot vinegar. If it does not clean readily, let it remain wet some time.

When churning it is sometimes difficult to make the butter gather. Try putting a little soda in the cream. It will cause the scattered bits of butter to gather.

THE TABLE.

A Simple Omelet—Beat the yolks and whites of six eggs separately and stir three tablespoons of milk into the yolks. Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a hot frying-pan. Stir the yolks and whites very lightly together, pepper and salt them, and turn the frothed mass into the frying-pan. Keep the omelet from sticking to the bottom and sides of the pan by frequently slipping a knife or cake-turner around the sides and under the bottom of the egg mixture. When the omelet is set, slip it off upon a hot platter, and as you do so, fold it over quickly and lightly. Serve at once.

Fried Toast—Cut rather thick slices of stale bread round with a cake cutter, spread upon a platter and pour over them a mixture of one cup of milk with an egg beaten into it, then salted slightly. Turn the slices until saturated, drain carefully, and fry as you would doughnuts in deep hot fat, turning when half done. Lay scrambled or poached eggs or a nice mince upon them for breakfast.

Johnny Cakes—Sift with two-thirds of a cup of flour, one tablespoonful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of baking-powder and one teaspoonful of salt. Pour two cups of boiling milk over two cups of cornmeal when cold add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, the yolks of two eggs well beaten and the sifted flour. Beat the mixture and just before putting in the oven add the whites of two eggs whipped light and dry. Bake in a shallow pan and serve hot.

Ginger Sandwiches.—Cut thin slices of plain gingerbread. Spread with a soft cream cheese. Put between the slices a thin cake of preserved ginger.

Potato Cake—Two cupfuls of white sugar, one cupful of butter, four eggs, one-half cupful of milk, one cupful of potatoes, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and cloves, one-half cup of chocolate, two cups of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one cup of almonds. Blanch and chop the almonds; grate cold boiled potatoes; beat eggs separately, adding the whites last. Bake in a shallow pan in a moderate oven, and cover with caramel frosting.

Parkin—Mix together three pounds of oatmeal, a pound and one-half of molasses, a half-pound of butter creamed with a half pound of sugar, a dash of ginger and a pinch of baking soda dissolved in a little boiling water. Mix thoroughly and bake in flat pans.

Molasses Cookies—Warm a cupful of molasses slightly and beat to a cream with half a cupful of softened butter. Add the juice of half a lemon, one tablespoonful of ginger and half a teaspoonful of cinnamon. Now stir in two cupfuls of flour sifted three times with an even teaspoonful of baking soda until you have a soft dough. Roll out and cut into shapes. Bake in a good oven.

Broiled Oysters—One pint of sea water, one-fourth cup of melted butter, two-thirds cup of seasoned cracker crumbs. Clean the oysters and dry between towels. Light with plated fork by the tough muscle and dip in the butter, then season with salt and pepper, then in a buttered wire broiler and broil over a clear fire until juices flow, turning while broiling. Serve with melted butter, the yolks of

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

The night schools that are springing into existence in towns laying claim to population enough to class the place as a city, are only one of the many proofs that are flanking us on every side that a man's or woman's chances for advancement stop only when they as an individual say so. As long as a person has the desire to forge ahead the chance to fit himself is wisely given, and the individual who has energy enough of the right sort to back his desire with earnest effort is usually rewarded with success. And yet, is every one that should be availing themselves of the opportunities that lie near at hand for advancement?

When you meet a young man who is working his way through school involuntarily you mentally tip your hat to him; same of the student happens to be a girl. Why? Because you're positively certain that any one with determination and grit enough to go after an education in so vigorous a

DENTAL INSPECTION BEGINS NEXT WEEK

JANESVILLE DENTISTS TO CONDUCT EXAMINATIONS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

EXAMINE EVERY CHILD

Elimination of Diseases Which Are Incubated in Mouth is Object of Work Planned.

Janesville dentists will begin a thorough and systematic examination of the teeth and mouths of children in the public schools next week beginning at the Douglas school and will continue the work until all the school children in the city have had the benefit of a dental examination.

The local school board has welcomed the offer of the dentists to give their time and services for the purpose and the entire inspection work which will take in the neighborhood of two weeks will be without expense either to the school authorities or to the children.

The work will be carried on in a manner similar to that done in some of the larger cities of the country where it has been pronounced successful. A wooden paddle will be used for each child. Special record cards have been made for the purpose and a report will be sent to the parents so that they may know the condition of the child's mouth.

In connection with the inspection work the Gazette has arranged for a series of articles on oral hygiene which will be published daily and will be of general interest. The city league is anxious for the institution of tooth brush drills in the city schools and it is possible that this may be taken up later. For the present the attention of the dentists will be confined to the inspection work.

Mouth Hygiene Important.

The history of the movement for dental inspection of school children shows that during the past decade educators and hygienists all over the world have awakened to a realization of the truth and significance of Dr. Osler's words, "There is not one single thing more important in the whole range of hygiene than the hygiene of the mouth. If I were asked to say whether more physical deterioration was produced by alcohol or defective teeth, I should unhesitatingly say defective teeth."

The movement owes its rapid development to the findings of those employed in the work. The reports which come from all parts of the world show with convincing consistency that a large proportion of all school children are suffering from decayed teeth.

The serious significance of dental conditions may be appreciated by studying the records of cities engaged in this work. Take the city of Cincinnati for example. 28,441 children have been examined. The total number of defects found was 68,842, of which number 51,063 represent cavities in first molars, the largest and most important teeth in the mouth. Just stop and consider the meaning of this, that 51,063 out of 68,842 defects were in first molars, the most important teeth in the mouth. They are the first permanent teeth to appear and come in directly back of the temporary teeth and are generally considered by parents to be the first teeth since no teeth are lost to allow them to come through. These four teeth, two on each side above and below, are to support both jaws in the proper position while nature is shedding the temporary teeth and the next set is growing up into place. The time for their appearance is about 6½ years of age. 4,799 cavities were recorded for other teeth. These children having no defects number 2,811. Unclean teeth was the rule.

Bad Teeth, Backward Child.

Just what defective teeth and unclean mouth mean to a community financially may be gathered from the fact that it requires children having defective teeth at least six months longer to complete the elementary school course than it does for children not so afflicted. That is sufficient data to demonstrate without a doubt the close relationship of oral hygiene to good scholarship.

In 1900 one of the Chicago Dental societies asked the board of education for the privilege of starting a free dental examination service. It took ten years for the body which controls the public schools to reach the point of allowing dentists to spend their own time and money in opening a free dispensary in which the teeth of children whose parents were unable to pay might be examined and treated free of charge. Since the first free dental dispensary was opened in Chicago in 1910 the teeth of 63,000 children—one-fifth of the total number—have been examined. In 9500 of these cases more or less serious defects were found. The results were so satisfactory that the Health Commission included in his budget the modest sum of $10,000 to cover salaries of dental operators for the next year.

Bad cases of dental physical defects are the cause of indigestion, nervousness, headaches, inability to study, failure to pass in new grades, retardation and truancy, scolding and punishment at home, extra expense, severe discipline and injustice at school, incorrigible boys and girls.

Glucose Widely Employed.

The free dental clinic for school children is no longer an experiment. The time is not longer a question when every city and town with any pretense of being up-to-date will be providing free dentistry for their school children.

Dr. Fronzak, Buffalo's Health Commissioner, claims that 14 of the school children repeat once during school life and that this is caused by a physical defect. He also claims that this backward student work costs the states $27,000,000 a year.

If the old saying "that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," this $27,000,000 might do a world of good if properly applied. Every child that remains in school an extra year means a loss to the school system and a financial loss of a year's time to parents, as well as the added cost of correction of any defect later in life.

ENTERTAINS AT "STUNT" PARTY IN HONOR OF HER BROTHER LEAVING CITY

Miss Verna Bennison entertained the "Same Old Crowd" last evening at the home of T. E. The party last evening featured a "Stunt Games" most proficiently captured the prize. Edward Kohler took the first for the lowest score of the evening. After a delightful repast, the guests departed for their homes.

MILTON HIGHS WON FROM PALMYRA FIVE

Downfall of Losers Due to Steady Fast Team Work on Part of Victors.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milton, Jan. 15.—Milton high school basketball team defeated Palmyra 15, 8, in the college gymnasium Monday night, Jan. 12, in a fast and exciting game.

Palmyra took the lead at the start by capitalizing on the first basket, but the Milton boys soon "hit their stride" and in a few minutes had a big lead. The first half ended 10 to 19 with Milton on the long end of the deal.

Palmyra started some good team work but were unable to locate the basket. Then the local boys took a pace and scored thirteen points before the Palmyra lads succeeded in increasing their score. Then the Palmyra umpire got in some "technical umpiring" and when the smoke of the battle cleared away the score stood 24 to 17 in favor of Milton highs.

All the Milton boys deserve credit for their good showing. Paul Randolph scored seven baskets, Ronny Hall, but Langphere and Rindolf were not far behind with four baskets each. Curtis and Hall at guard played a strong game. Scherer, Burdette and Holscomb were the best on Palmyra's team.

The lineup was as follows:

Milton: Langphere, c.; Stanley, f.; Holscomb, f.; Scherer, g.; Hall, g.; Rindolf, f.; Burdette, f.; Curtis, f.; Mulden, f.; Field, f.; Randolph, f.; Holscomb, f.

Three throws—Langphere, 5; Holscomb, 3.

Whitaker as referee gave universal satisfaction.

Umpire—Prof. Worthington.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" STRAIGHTEN YOU UP

No Sick Headache, Bilious Stomach, Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by morning.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food, take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

Throw Away Your Eye-Glasses!

A Free Prescription

You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye-strain or other eye-weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing, say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it, "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time." It was like a miracle to me. A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of over getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Opton. Fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Opton tablet and allow to dissolve. With this liquid, bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to have them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time. Advertisement.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Costs Little, but there is Nothing Better at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You could buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the sugar syrup. Your cough is perfectly cured and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is a slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis, spasmodic cough and whooping cough. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Broadway Jones

Copyright, 1913, by G. W. Dillingham Company. Realizing that in this was something like reflection on her fitness for the coveted position of consort to the youth, Mrs. Gerard, attracted everyone's attention; presently, by a wonderfully feigned embarrassment as she rose and stood by Broadway's side.

The party gasped, but rose to the occasion as soon as it could get its breath again. It was incredible, and there were those among the guests who were so sure of this that they believed a joke was hidden somewhere in the episode, but the majority were so well trained to Broadway's genius for producing mad extravagance that they simply charged this up as one of them.

A dancer who had been brought up from the cabaret below after one o'clock and closing time had come sprang lightly to a table, and to the destruction of the floor lobster and some notably fine glassware, did a gypsy-sew among the wrecks of sanguinary shells and emptied bottles. The head waiter smiled, knowing that whatever might be broken would be charged up in the bill at double value and paid for without question by the sensational spendthrift, to whose own wealth was now linked the extraordinary fortune of the recent John Gerard (wholesale leather) who had made his millions, married a very vital lady of his own life years and then died of sheer antiquity to leave her, triumphant in superior vitality, relict and craving for that gaiety which life with him had not provided.

"Broadway!" breathed the ancient lady with a skillful simulation of embarrassment. "You naughty, naughty boy!"

"Naughty, possibly; but how extremely lucky!" said the wholly unexpected bridegroom-elect without a quiver, much to his own surprise and self-congratulation. As it broke up the party rioted with joy, very largely alcoholic. Mrs. Gerard's car, when it came up from its hiding place around the corner, was straightway encircled by the flowers, from ladies' bracelets, table bouquets and the bride's nosegay. One enthusiast thrust in a potted palm, and Mrs. Gerard screamed when she sat on it. Another made a thoughtful contribution of two lobster-claws which, to his astonishment, he had found in his hands as he arrived upon the sidewalk. A lady, being under the impression that the wedding had been celebrated while she briefly napped up at the table, insisted upon throwing one white satin slipper at her whom she believed to be the bride, refusing to accept the theory that Mrs. Gerard was, as yet, only Broadway's fiancée.

"But you can't walk without it," her escort pleaded earnestly.

"I'd limp a year for Broadway," she insisted, missed Mrs. Gerard's cuff by a quarter of an inch and then burst into tears.

Four yellow government notes were placed in circulation in police circles before the long and rangy touring car reached the granite archway which invited entrance to stories underneath the bachelor apartment in which Rankin waited for him, sleeping, but with one ear open for the riot which frequently attended the home-coming of his master.

The car had scarcely come to a standstill before both eyes were open. And as the eyes appeared from their snug hiding places behind fat lids, his ears achieved astonishment. His master had returned at early hours on previous occasions accompanied by merry friends; but they had never chosen as their happy, matin-song, the "Wedding March from Lobengrin."

What could it mean?

elevator shaft and listened earnestly. Presently, as the group succeeded in getting up the three stairs leading from the sidewalk into the ground floor hall, he caught a word or two of thick, congratulatory talk.

"Shou joy, ol' man," was the most frequent of the crowding, earnest words. What could it mean?

As he heard the elevator door close and the swift wish of the ascending car, Rankin withdrew to the apartment, there to linger, waiting for his master, consumed with carefully mastered curiosity.

Devooured with curiosity he stood waiting as his master entered through the outer door which he considered had left ajar for him. He had guessed at certain details of his young employer's probable condition and knew that in the midst of just those details Broadway was impatient of latch-keys, bell-ringing or even knuckle-tapping on the door.

The first thing he noted as the unsteady Broadway entered was the fact that his silk hat had been reversed up on his head; the second was that someone evidently had been sitting on his raglan cape while it had been rolled rather carelessly; the third was that his face wore an expression of relief and peace with all the world.

Not so unsteadily that he failed entirely to reach the goal Jackson lacked across the room and found the window. His friendly escort was still evidently in his mind, for from the open window he now waved a genial, handkerchief, whispering meanwhile "Night-night," as if the hearty spirit which induced the words would take them to the sidewalk ten score feet below.

Having performed this sacred rite of friendship he regained the center of the room, looked about him as if curiously, and then went unsteadily to the grand piano, upon which he placed his elbow with a needling search for comfort which seemed to indicate a firm decision to lean against the instrument and go to sleep without delay. This would never do, for when his slumber became deep he would be sure to lose his balance. Rankin saw the deep necessity for rousing him from his intention.

"Mr. Jones, Mr. Jones," he urged, tapping him upon the shoulder.

Jackson looked up, sleepily, as if astonished at the interruption of his slumbers. "Hello," he said good naturedly, "who's there?"

"It's Rankin, sir," said Rankin.

"Who's Rankin, sir?" The tone was that of tolerant curiosity to learn a total stranger's unimportant identity.

"I'm the butler, sir."

"Butler?"

"Yes, Mr. Jones; the butler."

This seemed to rouse his master and he looked him over with some show of interest. "A butler!" he exclaimed in tones of deep reproach. "Aren't you ashamed of yourself? When you were a little boy your mother had great hopes of you—thought you were going to be president of the United States, or something like that."

Rankin bowed impassively; he did not deny it.

"Now," said his employer with the deepest of reproach, you've disappointed everybody. You've turned out to be nothing but a butler. You ought to be ashamed of yourself!"

Rankin was not offended; instead his air was that of triumph. "Ah, but see who's butler I am, sir!" he exclaimed.

"Who's butler are you?" inquired Broadway, apparently with idlest curiosity.

"I'm your butler, sir."

"Oh, you're my butler?" This seemed not to be especially astonishing, though deeply interesting to the master of the house.

"Yes, sir."

Broadway looked at him with a glad smile, then with an earnest and enthusiastic gravity. He warmly shook his hand. "I congratulate you, Rankin. I'm very fond of my butler." His sentiment rose higher and he patted Rankin on the cheek. "I love my little butler. You must come out with me some night, Rankin."

"I should like to, sir," said Rankin truthfully.

Broadway became gay, mysterious. He looked at Rankin slyly and himself essayed to whistle some bars of the wedding march. "I know something you don't know," he cried irreverently. Rankin listened with respect and close attention. His curiosity was almost painful.

But his master did not satisfy it. "Now I'll bid you good-night, Rankin. Nightie, nightie!" Genially he waved his hand at him, laughed, whistled another bar or two and elaborately made the starboard tack toward the door of his bedroom.

Rankin made no protest; he knew better. "When do you wish to be called, sir?"

"Oh, that's so, I must be called," his master granted after a second's deep and serious thought. Then, in a deep study: "Now, let me see—when do I wish to be called? What day is it, Rankin?"

"It's Thursday, sir."

"Thursday? Well, I tell you what you do, Rankin. You call me on Saturday."

After this entirely unexpected suggestion to the little butler whom he loved, he found a devoted course into his bedroom and Rankin, after he had watched the door close, heard the key turn in the lock. He sank into a chair, even his composure utterly destroyed. In the distance a church-clock chimed. Rankin counted the slow strokes. "Five o'clock in the morning!" he said helplessly.

CHAPTER V.

Wallace was a mid-morning visitor. He came in briskly, inquiring of the very much puzzled butler for the very elegant apartment's master.

"He's not yet up, sir."

This apparently had not the least deterrent effect on the young caller. He urged his firm athletic frame through the short hall into the dim illumination of the flat's reception room. It was evident enough that he had no intention of departing, simply because the master of the house had not yet risen. Rankin understood that said did not gainsay him. Wallace had his privileges as the best friend of the tenant of the flat.

"But See Who's Butler I Am, Sir!"

"Shall I tell him you are here?"

"Yes," said Wallace firmly, "and tell him that I want to see him right away. It's very important. Do you understand?"

Rankin had already read the morning's papers which were lying in a neat pile on the table. He longed for fuller news than theirs.

"Yes, sir." But he hesitated slightly. Broadway was an indulgent master—still, strange things were happening; he was doubtful. "He said he didn't wish to be disturbed till Saturday, sir."

Wallace was not impressed. "That doesn't make any difference. You tell him I want to see him."

"Yes, sir." But the perfect servant still hesitated, filled with curiosity about the previous night. Wallace might enlighten him. "He didn't get home until five o'clock this morning. He attended some big dinner-party. I believe."

"Yes; I was there—I was there! Go on and call him! Tell him I am waiting. I'm going to have a heart to heart talk with that young man."

"Yes, sir," said the butler without hesitating, for he saw that Wallace had picked up a paper from the neat pile he had made of all of them upon the table.

"Great Scott!" Wallace cried, dismayed. "Here it is on the front page!"

"I beg pardon, Mr. Wallace, but is it all true, sir?"

"What?"

"The story in the morning papers, sir, about—er—his engagement?"

"I don't know. Someone rang me up and told me of it. It's what brought me here. I want to find out if it's true. I left the dinner at 12:30. The engagement, I am told, was announced shortly after I had left. Were you up when he got home this morning?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did he talk of it at all?"

"He couldn't talk so very much, sir."

"Tipsey?"

Rankin nodded very solemnly. "Stewed, sir."

"Did he come home alone?"

"He came in here alone, but a crowd was serenading him upon the sidewalk for ten minutes after he arrived. It was the wedding march they tried to sing. I couldn't understand why they chose that until I read the morning's papers, sir."

"Well, what do you think of it, Rankin?"

Rankin shrugged his shoulders, but did not reply. His instinctive loyalty to his employer, his perfect knowledge of his own proprieties prevented that.

"Oh, come on," Wallace urged. "You can tell me. Just between us now."

"She's old enough to be his mother, sir," Rankin said with lowered voice.

"She's old enough to be his mother's mother," Wallace cried explosively. Then, with determination: "Go on and tell him that I want to see him. Hurry up!"
